VTP Strategy Description & Highlights:

- Systematic Top-Down Volatility-Focused Trading Program w/Discretionary Risk Management Overlay
- VTP predominantly trades VIX Futures and utilizes both spread positions and outright positions to express the views and achieve the targeted exposures of the strategy.
- VTP is composed of independently managed sub-strategies. By combining different approaches side-by-side within the volatility space, the overall program can benefit from internal diversification and reduce the reliance on any one sub-strategy's approach to generating profits. Sub-strategies have relative value, momentum and preferred-environment components.
- VTP seeks to achieve high absolute returns while only generating moderate drawdowns.
- Manager has the majority of his liquid net-worth invested alongside the program's investors.
- Please review the Disclosure Document for additional disclosures and principal risk factors.
